MONESSEN STOCKHOLDERS CAUSE ARREST OF OIL CO. PRESIDENT

Charge that Former Official
Embezzled Funds Given
To Develop Field

LORENZE IS NOW UNDER BOND

A Lorenze, who organized the Penn-La. Oil & Gas company, a year or more ago, and who was discharged from its presidency some weeks ago by the board of directors, must now face charges of embezzlement of $6,000 of the company fund. An affidavit has been filed by P. W. Fuersten, of Monessen, a director representing the company, which has been reorganized and is continuing the work of drilling wells nine miles west of Baton Rouge, La.

Mr. Fuersten, who left Monessen some time ago to assist Mr. Butler in the reorganization of the company and the dealings of the deposed president, and fearing that Lorenze would attempt to make his escape, had a warrant sworn out for his apprehension and will hold him under bond until such time as the case can be brought before court. It is said there is little doubt in the minds of those who have investigated that Lorenze will be found guilty of the charges filed against him.

The story in connection with this oil venture, in which residents of Monessen and vicinity put in about $75,000, is very interesting, and tends to show how the promoter attempted to profit at the expense of the stockholders, so it is alleged. For six months prior to the organization of the company Mr. Lorenze was very busy in Louisiana in taking up oil leases, and after having secured about 40,000 acres, he hid himself to Pennsylvania to dig up some real money. Coming to Monessen he interested Mr. Brumbaugh, who with a number of friends at once raised $25,000, which was given to Lorenze to further prosecute work in Louisiana, in developing the territory already under lease. It is now charged that Lorenze appropriated about $6,000 of the money contributed by the Pennsylvania stockholders to his own use and attempted to cover up his transactions by clever entries on the books of the company.

Several months ago local stockholders becoming a little suspicious about conditions held a meeting in Monongahela, at which Lorenze was present, and at which time he assured the stockholders that everything was all right, but they were "from Missouri," and decided to send a committee down to inspect the situation. Accordingly Mr. Fuersten of Monessen and Samuel Sidle of Bentleyville were chosen for the mission and started south. Lorenze in his hope of heading them off and securing possession of the books also started for Louisiana, but the committee beat him to it, and when the former president reached New Orleans and called on the company office at Baton Rouge, he found that the committee was at work on the books and were making a thorough

MANY DONORA CITIZENS ARE ON THE "SUCKER LIST"

Donora has recently been bombarded with stock promotion literature of the Pittsburg Tin Plate and Steel company and some of the stock has been sold there. As usual the sucker list was well worked and there are believed to be a number of purchasers of this stock, regardless of the fact that the thinking man would know that any legitimate steel manufacturing is not financed by peddling stock. Officers of the company above noted were arrested in Pittsburg by the police, but were later released on bail.

IDENTIFY BODY OF DROWNED MAN

George Gagne, of Westport, Mass., was in Charleroi on Monday for the purpose of identifying the body of the man drowned off the steamer J. C. Risher at Lock 4 on the 19th of June. Mr. Gagne went to the mortuary of Lawrence B. Frye, where he identified the clothes that had been taken from the body of the drowned man, also a belt which he wore. Mr. Gagne said these clothes were worn by the deceased when he last saw him on the 20th of March in Westport. The name of the deceased was Joseph Augustine Decease, age 22, and according to Mr. Gagne, he had deserted from the United States Navy in July, 1919. Decease had engaged as a deckhand on the steamer Risher under the name of Frank White, and by which he was known to his companions. He had only been at work one week when he lost his life by drowning.

Mr. Gagne, who is a brother-in-law of the deceased, visited the office of M. T. Crowley, deputy coroner, Monday afternoon, and signed a statement setting forth the above facts. It was through a postal card addressed to a sister, Mrs. Ryan, in Fall River, Mass., that Mr. Gagne was able to locate the whereabouts of the deceased, and he came here to make identification.

Local street railway fares will not be affected by the increase, which will go into effect on the 14th of this month. The new schedule filed with the Public Service Commission affects only the urban cars.

Investigation. They have unearthed some very clever work, they say, and as a consequence Mr. Lorenze will have to answer in court. The company believes that it has a good thing in the Louisiana oil leases and having been reorganized active work is being pushed with a view of making a complete test. They believe they will strike oil.

Schedule Is Announced for Charleroi High Football Season

The football schedule for the Charleroi High school is about complete, and Prof. Lively, principal, is enabled at this time to make announcement of the games that have already been booked. Of the games already arranged for, four will be played abroad and four at home, there remaining two open dates which the school officials hope to have filled in the near future, one at least of which will in all probability be played at home.

The team will open the season on foreign soil, by taking on the Connellsville team on the grounds of the latter team on the 25th of September. Then will follow a series of four games at home, with the California Normal, the Rochester High, the Washington High and the Clairton High. Then follows two open

MAPLE CREEK ROAD CLOSED BY STATE STATE POLICE ARE NABING AUTO DRIVERS

The Maple Creek road, from Rogers school house to the Charleroi borough line, has been closed by order of the State Highway Department, until the repairs now underway are completed. The new order went into effect on Monday, and will continue for an indefinite length of time. A provision has been made, however, that the road will be open after 5 o'clock each evening to allow coal trucks to haul coal to local industries. Parties desiring to reach Benteville can do so by going out Fifth street and coming down on to Maple creek by passing the Rogers home. Drivers of milk wagons are said to be making a complaint because of the action of the Highway department, but it is not likely that the action will be modified, as it is considered absolutely necessary to have the road closed during the day if the work of repairs is to be pushed with any degree of speed.

WILL NOT HOLD COMMITTEE MEETING THIS EVENING

No meeting of the Salvation Army committee will be held this evening as previously arranged for, on account of the Elks picnic and the further fact that all local committees have not reported as to their collections. A final meeting will likely be arranged for next week.

LOCALS WILL PLAY AT MONESSEN NEXT MONDAY

The Charleroi Independent base ball team will play at Monessen Monday afternoon next, their opponents being the American Grain base ball team. This will be the main attraction at Monessen's demonstration which will be held to celebrate the Fourth of July. Arrangements for this demonstration are about completed and all that is necessary to make it a success is good weather.

OFFICER IS HELD BY CORONER'S JURY

Edward Miller, one of the coal and iron police of the Vesta Coal company, at Daisytown, was held by a coroner's jury for the death of John Cayton at an inquest held at Daisytown by Coroner Wm. Greenlee. Miller shot and instantly killed Cayton in a gun-fight at Daisytown on the night of May 23, following a drunken brawl.

It seems that trouble started when Officer Miller went to a house in Daisytown where a number of men were drinking. They had been making a disturbance and Miller had been sent for. He placed one of them under arrest and lodged him in the town lockup. He then returned and arrested Cayton. The officer was taking him to the lockup when the man's wife interfered and asked that he be released. It was shown at the inquest that Mrs. Cayton slipped her husband a revolver while she was pleading with Miller. He released the prisoner on a promise from the wife to take the man home and keep him in the house. It was after Cayton was released that the shooting occurred. Miller contends that Cayton fired the first shot, but this is denied by Cayton's friends. The matter will be referred to the grand jury.

ADVISE COMPANY TO ENCLOSE RESERVOIR

After making an investigation into the death of Jesse Small, Jr., colored, who was drowned June 18 in the storage reservoir at the Macbeth-Evans glass plant, Coroner William Greenlee advised the company officials to enclose the reservoir so as to make it inaccessible to boys. The reservoir is in the open, but the company has had strict orders against it being used for bathing purposes.

The Monongahela firemen began their financial campaign on Monday morning by receiving a check for $500.00 from one of their prominent citizens. This was followed by a donation of $250.00 from the Eagles. While this work is going on and it is anticipated that other large contributions will be received before the campaign is over.

Six Are Placed in Lockup to Answer Charge Before
Justice of the Peace

INDICTED IN CLEARFIELD CO.

Six men were placed in the South Brownsville lockup Monday night, while a seventh is out on bail, to be given a hearing today before Justice of the Peace C. C. Garretts, of Brownsville, on charges of obtaining money under false pretense and misrepresentation of insurance policies. The men are agents of the Pelican Mutual Life Insurance company of Philadelphia, with a branch office in Pittsburgh. The wholesale arrest of the men in Brownsville, it is said, is the outgrowth of a prosecution begun against the outfit in Clearfield county in this state.

According to information in hands of the Brownsville officers, the men who claim to hail from New York have been systematically working mining towns in this vicinity and their activities cover three counties. They are accused of selling a very flexible policy with protection against sickness and accident, and where demanded a $1,000 death benefit is written in on the policy. It is alleged that when the policies are sent to the Pittsburg office this death benefit disappears.

The men are said to have been operating around the Brownsville section for the past two months, and to have been netting about $4,500 a week in premiums collected mostly from foreigners among whom the agents have been largely operating.

One of the men arrested in Brownsville, John Lowenthal is now under indictment in Clearfield county and another one, M. Morzell, was released on bail. The other six spent the night in the South Brownsville jail. They claimed the heads of the Pittsburgh office would go their bail, but efforts to get any response from that source were unavailing last night.

The informations were made by J. Bennett, who it is alleged was under indictment in Clearfield county, but later turned state's evidence and is helping to run down the outfit working in Brownsville. The district attorney of Clearfield county is said to be the instigator of the prosecutions at Brownsville.

TAKING PRECAUTIONS AGAINST A LANDSLIDE

The concrete highway opposite Monongahela which was open to traffic on Saturday and Sunday, was closed again on Monday to allow the removal of a large amount of additional dirt. This dirt is being removed from the hillside above the roadway, thus preventing a blockade from this source at any time in the future. While this work is going on and it is anticipated that other large contributions will be received before the campaign is over.

SOVIET SLAVERY

The latest phase of Bolshevism is, as a number of expert observers have noted, its militaristic industrialism. The partial demobilization of the Red Army, following the defeat of Denikine and Kolchak, gave the impelling force to this movement, says the New York Tribune. But it was already under way at an earlier date, and it has apparently come as the logical and necessary lowering of communism.

The first freedom of Bolshevism, it is now plain, was wholly illusory. Day by day the regulations of Lenin and Trotsky have been clamped down tighter and tighter. There has never been free speech or free press under Bolshevism. Industrial freedom was speedily succeeded by sternness of discipline and a length of working day unknown to present day capitalism. Last of all comes the policy of drafting labor, exactly as the Red army was drafted, so that skilled workers might be shifted about Russia as the need called. The example of the Red army, its strict discipline and its success was cited to the advocates of the plan.

A full description of the policy is now given in the resolutions of the Commercial party made public by our State Department. The principles approved are the "mobilization of the industrial proletariat, labor conscription, economic militarization and the utilization of troops for economic requirements," and the policy touching skilled labor is thus defined.

"The organization of the party must assist in every way the trade unions and labor departments in regulating skilled workers for the purpose of employing them in productive labor, on the same principles and with the same severity as are adopted with regard to the requirements of the army. Every skilled worker must return to his special work. Skilled workers may remain at other Soviet posts only with the permission of central and local authorities."

Later in the resolutions it is repeated that the industrial army must be organized exactly as the Red Army and "severe discipline" is urged.

Surely a greater tyranny was never proposed in the name of freedom. Here, indeed, is the industrial slavery that our glib radicals are always pretending to discover in capitalism.

Under such a system no factory worker could call his soul his own. He would be obliged to work when and where the Soviet authorities ordered him to. Yet, let no one condemn Lenin too quickly for this latest phase of communism. The unanswered riddle of communism has always been the question where the motive for labor was coming from when wages were leveled, and how the industrial organization of a nation was to be accomplished with capital abolished and private initiative ended. The answer is this militaristic industrialism. Capitalism has its blunders and is inadequate. But it does work; it gives a motive to labor and a motive to save and to organize. Abolish capital, level rewards and the lash of bureaucracy is the only possible solution. At least so Lenin seems to be painfully demonstrating, to the grief of socialists the world around.

WORDS TO YOUNG MEN

President Hibben of Princeton University is criticized for the pessimistic tone of his recent baccalaureate address. He said to the senior class, for example: "The modern dress, the modern dance, the modern music, the modern manners are symptoms indicate that somehow in this we have lost our bearings and the values of life, once so highly prized, have been forgotten. There is a lessening, if not a loss, of the old reverence for God." It is objected that what he complained of is really nothing new, that similar complaints have been made ten, twenty and even a hundred years ago; and that Princeton's president, like others before him, makes the mistake of picturing ing the extremes as typical of American life in general.

Remember your dead. W. S. Cook and Co. Monuments with Law. Frye Funeral Director. 20817

There is point in this view, but the quotation and the criticism do not give a proper idea of President Hibben's address as a whole. He said also: "I have particularly in mind the danger of a loss to you of something of incalculable value. It is not the danger of missing something which you have never experienced but of losing that which you have already possessed. That possession you shared in common with us all during the years of 1917 and 1918. There came to you then a peculiar elevation of spirit, when the world, suddenly awakened to a realization that there was a cause to defend, challenging one's loyalty and commanding one's devotion, and that there was something to believe in, something to fight for and something even to die for. There was no one of you who failed to experience this moral and spiritual exhilaration." Thus to warn young men against the deadening effect of a violent reaction after the heights of selfless enthusiasm attained during the war is to perform a needed and useful service.

GROWING POPULAR

The presidential ticket nominated at the recent Republican convention in Chicago is constantly growing in popularity. Every element of the party is rallying to the Harding-Coolidge standard, and the whole country is aglow with Republican enthusiasm. Senator Harding has called into conference those who opposed his nomination in favor of one or the other of the several candidates, as well as practically all of the candidates themselves, and it is certain that immediately upon the formal opening of the campaign he will follow the lead of those familiar with national politics. He will not insist upon a "one man" campaign and he will not assume to have a "one man" administration in the event of his almost certain election.

The Chicago convention left no sore spots. Every entry for the presidential nomination was given an open field with no favors to any contestant. At the conclusion of the convention the Harding nomination was justly popular. It has grown in popular esteem every day since the convention.

A lot of people will get hopping mad just as soon as they begin to talk politics, but it is not yet recorded that they make many converts to their political belief.

Responding to the clamorous demand for increased production, various numbers of limousines, fur coats, diamond rings and dress suits are now being turned out.

Fate Had Hand In Organization of Great Lakes String Quartet

GREAT LAKES STRING QUARTET.

BY some trick of fate four young men who were afterwards destined to form the Great Lakes String Quartet found themselves, upon enlistment in the navy in 1918, placed in the same company and regiment at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. It was not long before they discovered each other, and soon chamber music resounded throughout the barracks during rest hours. At daybreak, immediately after reveille, when the routine of drills had not yet begun, and at nightfall, when work was over, up to the hour of taps, these four hastened to some abandoned room for rehearsal. Beethoven and Mozart have seldom been played under like conditions.

Before making their first Chautauqua tour the quartet had the distinction of making two return trips across the Atlantic on the steamer George Washington with the president furnishing music for the presidential party. At that time the newspapers gave great publicity to this organization, which was selected from thousands of musical men in the service. The Great Lakes Quartet has been secured for Chautauqua's third evening. The accompanist is Miss Prudence New former soloist with the Minneapolis Russian and Chicago Symphony Orchestras.

Ethics and Epigram.

"There's nothing holier in heaven than your own little job," and "The man who fills his little niche on earth in the very best way that it can be filled, is as good as any angel in heaven," are two sayings which sound like different versions of the same epigram of Rev. Robert J. MacAlpine in his address to the Kiwanis club. Whether Pastor MacAlpine said both these things, or only one of them, he put a grand truth in a crisp form. Honest efficient work is not only a worldly utility but a high moral function.—Buffalo Times.

Old Pennsylvania City.

York, Pa., is a city of ancient origin. Here was located the first settlement west of the Susquehanna river. From September 30, 1777, to June 27, 1778, she was the nation's capital, for during that time the British then occupying Philadelphia, the continental congress met in her courthouse. The first money sent by the king of France to aid the cause of American independence was received by congress in this city. And here the first national Thanksgiving proclamation was issued.

Filbert Worth Cultivating.

A nut almost unknown in the United States is the filbert, one of the most delicious of all nuts. It is cultivated on a large scale for the market in the county of Kent, England. A large variety is known as the "cob nut." The filbert is as superior to the havel nut—of which family it is a member—as the hazel nut is superior to the pecan. Attempts to raise the filbert on a commercial scale in the United States have not so far met with success.

"Scapa Flow."

In Scotch the word scapa means "head" and flow means "sea." Scapa flow is the portion of the sea in the southern part of the Orkney islands which extends from Pomona to the Pentland firth. It is fifteen miles long and about eight miles wide, and opens by Hoy sound in the northwest joining Pentland firth in the south near the island of Swona. The term scapa may perhaps be traced to the Gaelic sgapadh, to scatter, spread.

Lower-California Cattle.

In addition to cattle, many excellent mules are raised in Lower California. Horses are rarely used. The faithful burro is the principal means of transportation. Except for a few thousand in La Frontera, there are no domestic sheep in the country. In the southern part there are numerous flocks of goats. The largest cattle ranch on the peninsula comprises almost 1,000,000 acres.

Nuts Grown in United States.

About the only nuts that have been so far raised in this country on a large scale are the English walnut and the almond, the former mainly in southern California, the latter in central California, also the pecan in the southern states. The culture of the pecan has of late become an important and exceedingly profitable industry in the South.

For Age Computation.

To compute the age and birth month of a person ask the person to think of his age, multiply by 10, add 25, multiply by 10, add the number of the month in which he was born, subtract 250. The first two numerals will be the person's age and the last two the month in which he was born.

The Reese Formula R-11 Doesn't Fool With It But Removes It From the System

You don't believe that the earth is flat do you? Well people used to think so, and today there are some folks who say that rheumatism can't be relieved. They seem to think it's something everyone must have more or less of. Quit suffering from this old bug-a-boo, get a bottle of The Reese Formula R-11, and let it drive the cause of rheumatism from your system. Stop trying to rub it out of your body with liniments, etc. It didn't get in that way so you won't have much success getting it out in that manner. It's in the blood and the only way you will get relief is to get it out of the blood. The Reese Formula R-11, does this and the time it takes to do it depends upon the seriousness of the case only. If you suffer from rheumatism, indigestion, nervousness, biliousness, headache, stomach, liver and kidney trouble in any form, get a bottle of The Reese Formula R-11. It will do for you what it has for others in this city and elsewhere. If you wish further information, write direct to our Medical Advisor, Medical Department, The Reese Formula Co., Huntington, W. FUTURE AUTO MOTIVE POWER

Interesting Speculation as to What Will Take the Place of Fast-Diminishing Gasoline.

Gasoline will continue to go up in price. A few years from now we shall have to use something else as fuel for our automobiles. The question is, what?

The government bureau of mines thinks that we shall get the requisite substitute from coal. In every city there will be "by-product coke ovens," which will extract from the coal a light oil available for the purpose. The coke can then be used in our furnaces and for other ordinary fuel purposes.

One ton of soft coal in the process of coking yields at least three gallons of oil first rate for motor fuel. At present prices the best in the oil has 20 times the commercial value of the same amount of heat in the form of coal.

Germany during part of the war was practically shut off from every supply of mineral oil. She depended for her motor fuel entirely on coal, putting the latter through by-product coking plants. Before long we shall be obliged to do the same thing in the United States.

Part of the light oil in coal is today, which in time of war is needed for the manufacture of TNT. Modern warfare requires enormous quantities of the substance for making high-explosive shells. During the first part of the war the allies came near defeat for lack of it.

Another by-product from the coking of one ton of soft coal is 5,000 cubic feet of gas, available for cooking and other household uses. The coke it produces is an admirable smokeless fuel for furnaces. If people could only be persuaded to use it.

SEES INFLUENCE AS HANDICAP

Charles M. Schwab Insists That Character Is the Biggest Asset in Modern Business.

Influence! The worst thing that can happen to a man is to start life with influence. So declared Charles M. Schwab in a talk to Princeton students upon how to succeed in business, remarking that young fellows who begin to get on the score of having no influential friend to give them a boost get cold comfort from Mr. Schwab, who has come up from the ranks, and who now goes so far as to advise any young man who has an influence not to use it to get a start. Mr. Schwab laid down as the first fundamental of a successful life, "Unimpeachable integrity." Character is the biggest asset in business. A whole array of brilliant qualities will not take the place of this cornerstone of enduring success. The whole tenor of Mr. Schwab's heart-to-heart talk was a new emphasis on the old-fashioned qualities of loyalty, industry and persistence. The young man who possesses these traits is bound to succeed, for opportunity was never so great as it is today. No industry is more highly organized than the steel industry, with all the progress made in the last 20 years the industry is far from its zenith. So great is the magnitude of modern industry in all branches that opportunities for leadership instead of decreasing as some imagine, have actually increased in proportion as industry itself has grown.

'Big Trade in Old Papers.

A curious item of commercial news is that the east coast district of the island of Sumatra in 1918 imported 8,953 pounds of "condemned" papers from the United States. The ports of the same kind of material from January 1 to September 1, of last year, were 572,583 pounds. The papers are wanted to cover young sprouts of rubber trees and sugar cane. The estate of the island is very hot—about 100 degrees from the equator. In the middle of the island, to prevent the sprouts burning up in the fierce sunshine, sheets of paper are spread over them. Good papers serve the purpose very well, each sheet being held down with stones at the corners. In the island a method of protection is adopted, but in that archipelago, sheets of rice paper, imported from Japan are used.

In one of his recent lectures Sir Oliver Lodge, eminent English scientist, announced that the earth would probably continue to exist for 20,000,000 years more. These are, of course, round numbers. Some scientists estimate that the earth will last for 100 million years. There have been reports of one kind or another of the end of the world, but the latest one, which is probably the most serious, is the one which is being spread by communists. When asked how man has developed during the last 10,000 years, we may be sure that he will evolve to a higher type in the future.—Bore Life

Rhubarb

A certain East side man was cutting the dock weed in his back yard with a scythe, and his eight-year-old son was watching, seemingly engrossed in thought. Presently he asked: "Papa, why does God make dockweed?" On receiving no satisfactory reply he set to thinking again. In a few minutes he looked up again with a smile all over his face. This was his explanation: "Till bet God got mixed up when he was making things and thought this was rhubarb."—Indianapolis News.

TO LIMIT TRUCK LOADS ON IMPROVED ROADS

Truck drivers on a number of improved roads in Allegheny county were warned on Monday, by the Allegheny county road caretakers, to discontinue the practice of hauling excessive loads over those highways. Drivers failing to heed the warning will be arrested. County Road Commissioner Ray V. Warren has detailed 165 road caretakers under direction of a special investigator to watch for violators. Commissioner Warren stated that the present bad condition of the roads was due to the hauling of excessive loads over them. He said his men discovered drivers hauling seven to eight tons on five-ton trucks.

MAY DIE FROM A BRUTAL ASSAULT

Lying unconscious beneath a bridge spanning Pigeon creek, near the old VanVoorhis homestead, just outside of Monongahela, and between Stockdale town and Frye station, Charles McCallister, a well known resident of that locality is lying in the Memorial hospital at Monongahela suffering with skull fracture and other injuries which it is feared may prove fatal.

Mr. McCallister had been at the home of a friend Saturday evening until about 10 o'clock, when he started for home. This was the last seen of him until Sunday about noon, when he was found unconscious beneath the bridge. When he did not return home Saturday night a search was instituted and continued until Sunday, when he was found. He was removed to the hospital, where he had not regained consciousness Monday evening.

It is the theory that he was held up, beaten and robbed, and then thrown over the bridge. The back of his head is badly crushed, although hit from the rear with a large weapon. It is said that McCallister had about $30 on his person when he was found, but his pocket were empty when found. The injured man is about 59 years of age, and a carpenter.

ATTENDED COMMENCEMENT AT HARVARD UNIVERSITY

Mrs. Louis Haas and son Morton attended the commencement exercises at Harvard University, Cambridge, Mass., which were held last week. Her nephew, L. D. Weiss, who graduated from the Charleroi High school in 1916 was among the graduates of the University this year, with the honor of cum laude. Mrs. Haas was present during all the exercises incidental to the commencement, and saw all the notables who attended, among them Gen. Pershing, Governor Coolidge, Senator Lodge, former Secretary Lane and others. At the commencement this year there 1096 degrees conferred.

Not all the people who disappear into the woodland solitudes nowadays go there for communion with nature.

SOME THOUGHTS FOR THE VACATION PERIOD

Last Sabbath morning the sermon at the M. E. church dealt with vacation problems. After studying the meaning of vacation in its true sense, and considering places suited for vacations, among which the home was named, the pastor enunciated the following propositions: 1. The vacation should be planned for largest profit. 2. The Morning Watch should be observed during the vacation. 3. Church services should be attended regularly in the community where the vacation is taken. 4. New and profitable friendships should be cultivated. 5. An effort should be made to make the vacation a blessing to others.

VIADUCT COSTS DIVIDED BY TOWN AND RAILWAY

The Public Service Commission on Monday on the petition of the receiver of the Pittsburgh Railways company for apportionment of costs of a temporary viaduct over the Union Railroad tracks in Duquesne, divided the costs of $68,889.52, after $14,078.97 paid by the Union Railroad had been deducted, equally between the railways company and the municipality of Duquesne.

An aspiration is a joy forever, a possession as solid as a landed estate, a fortune which we can never exhaust and which gives us year by year a revenue of pleasurable activity. —Robert Louis Stevenson.

Plain Talk on World Affairs

SIR JOHN FOSTER FRASER.

"A DIPLOMAT AT LARGE" is Sir John's lecture theme. It is a plain, straightforward talk on world affairs and the position held by the United States before, during and since the great war, as seen by one who has had the advantage of many points of view and the benefit of expressions from the people of many nations. The lecture has the added merit of being delivered in unimpeachable English. There is no attempt to dodge unpleasant facts and to soften the criticism which is being accorded this nation by other nations of the world. There may be an audience those who are not highly pleased to hear the facts he details, but they can not help being pleased with his frank manner and friendly attitude.

Town of Historic Interest. While the name, Norristown, calls to mind that this place is the home of the state institution for the insane, it is also well to remember that it is historically interesting. Here can be seen the old Swedes' ford of the Schuylkill river, where American and British armies crossed many times during the Revolution. On Main street is located the home of Governor Harrison. Here, too, is the Seven-Star tavern, established in 1754 and famous during the Revolutionary war and on this same street was located the home of General Hancock, of Civil war fame. —Philadelphia Record.

Seek the Higher Life. Whatever you do, be greater than your calling; let your manhood overtop your position, your wealth, your title. Masterful living, constant growth toward a higher life, are the great ends of human existence. Your calling should be the great school of life, the great man-developer, character-builder, that which should broaden, deepen and round out into symmetry, harmony and beauty all the God-given faculties within you. —Orison Swett Marden in Chicago News.

The Indian mound in the northeast part of Kansas city was built about 57,000 years ago, according to Edward part of Kansas City was built about who has made an exhaustive study of prehistoric mounds in the United States. This mound is one mile north of Sheffield on the high bluff overlooking the Missouri river and the valley of the Blue river. It is called Indian mound. It probably was a signal mound.

Flowers. Flowers seem intended for the solace of ordinary humanity; children love them; quiet, tender, contented, ordinary people love them as they grow; luxurious and disorderly people rejoice in them gathered; they are the cottager's treasure; and in the crowded town mark, as with a little broken fragment of rainbow, the windows of the worker in whose heart rests the covenant of peace. —Ruskin.

New Chemical Kills Bed Bugs P. D. Q.

P. D. Q. (Peaky Devils Quenches) is the name of a new golden colored chemical discovery by Dr. Price that actually rids the worst infested house of bedbugs, roaches, fleas, ants and their eggs. They don't have time to kick after you go after them with P. D. Q. A 35c package of P. D. Q. makes a quart of strong bug-killer, and goes farther than a barrel of the old fashioned dangerous dope. P. D. Q. costs and kills their eggs and prevents hatching. FREE a patent spoon in every box to enable you to get them in the hard-to-get-at places, and saves juice.
P. D. Q. for family use 35c. Special Hospital and Hotel size $2.50. Makes 5 gallons, contains 3 spoons—your druggist can supply you, or sent prepaid to your address either size on receipt of price by the Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind. P. D. Q. is never peddled.

SLEEPS LIKE A FARMER'S BOY, FEELS LIKE A 16-YEAR OLD, AND EATS LIKE A HORSE

B. L. Allen, Foreman N. & W. Railway, at Portsmouth, Ohio, Says
Reese Formula R-11 Did It

Such is the way B. L. Allen, Assistant Foreman, N. & W. Ry., who lives at 924 Walnut St., Portsmouth, Ohio, speaks of the best fit of The Reese Formula R-11. In his inimitable style Mr. Allen tells of a great remedy in the following words:
"I have been troubled for a long time with a nervous condition, rheumatism and could not eat or sleep. Lots of nights I never closed my eyes, and after eating would have a burning in my chest almost unbearable. I saw the medicine in the window at Foster & Strick Drug Store and I decided to get a bottle, and try it as I have always tried everything I saw. I am glad to say after taking two-thirds of the bottle I can eat like a horse, sleep like a country boy and feel like a 16-year old boy. If you wish to use my name you are at liberty to do so. I will always recommend The Reese Formula R-11 to my friends."
The Reese Formula R-11 will benefit you in the same way as it did Mr. Allen. If you suffer from rheumatism, indigestion, sour stomach, backache, urinary, liver and kidney disorders. If you wish further information, write direct to our Medical Advisor, Medical Department, The Reese Formula Co., Huntington W. Va.
